November 2010

Dear Emergency Official,

Enclosed is your copy of the following:

- Pipeline Emergency Response Guidelines and Training Scenarios CD
- Pipeline Emergency Contact Directory
- Pipeline Awareness Newsletter to Public Officials

You are receiving this information because one or more participating companies operate natural gas or hazardous liquid pipelines in your community. We hope you will find this useful in coordinating our mutual emergency response efforts.

The Association and its members have developed several new tools to enhance emergency preparedness. An overview of these new resources can be found on page two and three of this letter.

Thank you for taking the time to review the enclosed materials,

Pipeline Association for Public Awareness and Participating Members

See the back page for a complete listing of participating member companies

Free resources available to you:

Responding to Utility Emergencies - Online Course

Emergency responders are typically first on the scene when utilities are damaged. This web site is designed to help first responders recognize potential hazards involving natural gas and the necessary guidelines to assure their safety and that of the general public. Training involves tracks for both Fire/Rescue and Law Enforcement.

Emergency Response Scenarios

The Association collaborated with Callan and Company to create eight different online drills and scenarios for Emergency Responders. The site helps you test and apply your knowledge using scenarios for various pipeline emergency situations. Scenarios are available for different types of response agencies and possible emergencies and are updated regularly.

Emergency Response Videos

Use this series of Pipeline Emergency Response videos to learn about strategic considerations when responding to a pipeline release in your community. The video is divided into segments that focus on Community Awareness, Communication and Preparedness; Pipeline Integrity; Recognizing and Identifying Pipeline Releases; and Incident Response Guidelines.

Emergency Response Capabilities Database and Web Application

To enhance our mutual response, the website has a new section to capture and display Emergency Response Capabilities for both First Responders and Pipeline Operators. Please logon to register your agency's capabilities and the results will be accessible to all organizations. If you sent us information last year, your information has been entered in the system and is now available for you to review.

Additional materials available on our website: www.pipelineawareness.org

- Complete member listing, including contact information
- Recommended evacuation distance table
- Pipeline emergency contact database
- Identified Site Registry
- Pipeline Awareness Newsletters
- Links to industry best practices, regulatory agencies, and related organizations
- A variety of pipeline safety information

Meet with your local pipeline representatives

Meeting with your local pipeline representatives is one of the best ways to gain specific knowledge about the natural gas and hazardous liquids products in your area. Pipeline representatives are available to meet with you, in person or by telephone, to discuss safety measures and/or to assist or conduct training and tabletop sessions. The safety of our communities is our top priority.

If you would like to set up a session on pipeline safety or discuss emergency response measures in your community, please email us at:

info@pipelineawareness.org

The state associations listed below have state-specific information. They also provide presentations in many areas. For meeting schedules, regulations, energy products and local pipeline operations including contacts, please visit your state's website for further information.

Dear Emergency Official,

Enclosed is your copy of the following:

- Pipeline Emergency Response Guidelines and Training Scenarios CD
- Pipeline Emergency Contact Directory
- Emergency Response Capabilities Form and Instructions
- Pipeline Awareness Newsletter to Public Officials

You are receiving these because one or more participating companies operate natural gas or hazardous liquid pipelines in your County. We hope you will find this useful in coordinating our mutual response efforts, especially the new Training Scenarios CD.

To enhance collaboration during a pipeline emergency, we are collecting valuable information from emergency officials and pipeline companies. The reverse side of this page contains a listing of Emergency Response Capabilities. Please checkmark the response capabilities relevant to your agency and return in the enclosed envelope (see instructions page 3). We are also collecting this information from our participating companies and the results will be available to all organizations.

Thank you for your cooperation,

Pipeline Association for Public Awareness and Participating Members
