Richard had a 10 am meeting in Portland. The meeting was with 8-10 people on the Development/Campaign Committee of the Maine Coast Heritage Trust. Richard had been the Campaign Chair of the previous capital campaign from 2001-2007 so his presence as a mentor/coach for the current initiative was very important to him. Richard was unusually punctual, never late and would have been focused on arriving on time. He would have checked radar weather reports and adjusted his departure time to accommodate a break in weather or forecast for worsening conditions.

Richard was planning on flying to Bartlett Island in the afternoon.
