Narrative

I did my walk around check safety zones and they were clear I proceeded to the pushback honked to my wingwalker he gave me the go ahead and let me know that the safety zone was clear and from my view it was clear as I was pushing I felt a jerk in the pushback and plane when I looked to my right I saw that the provo truck had been hit but by the time I saw it is was to late I checked the safety zone and it was clear I do not know where he came from and how the plane and provo truck collided.

Narrative

Pushback operator completed his walk around and the safety zone was clear. I walked out to begin wing walking, I helped the aircraft to allow a transfer driver complete his pass behind our aircraft. I then gave the all clear signal to the pushback operator to begin the push. Push was smooth and normal until the wings were about to cross the VSR and then the left wing struck a Provisions truck and knocked it over on to the driver's side. We halted the push and went over to check on the driver of the truck.
