DIGEST
Mr. Jack Cook the PIC for N260MW on 2/28/2019 called me to discuss the accident of the aircraft after receiving a message that I would like to talk with him. Mr. Cook sounded very tired during the phone call due to returning from doctor visits. This was a normal kind of flight for him going from KEDN to KTHA in which he had done many times before. The departed KEDN and stopped at Scottsboro AL airport and got fuel and had lunch. The weather at the time appeared to be clear and fine to fly in. They departed Scottsboro for KTHA with no issues. Mr. Cook then said from then on he was not too sure what happened exactly. He was having a difficult time remembering the events that led to the accident. He did say that they did run into weather and were attempting to turn around when the accident happened. He did not indicate there was a problem with the aircraft when I asked about that, just that the weather was the issue. The next thing he remembered was talking on his phone in a confused state after the crash to the emergency responders. The when he was being put in the ambulance and then being in the hospital.
