a current overhead audit report performed by an independent CPA and Contractor Cost Certification form – required for firms seeking to pursue projects estimated at any amount (Unlimited Level) none – primary option for firms seeking to pursue projects estimated at less than $500,000 (Minor Level) a self-certified overhead and accounting system report – secondary option for firms seeking to pursue projects estimated at less than $500,000 (Minor Level)

b. A Published Fee Schedule is a listing of well-defined services for a set price that is offered to all customers. “Services” are final products or completed processes which can be measured as deliverable units. For example, drilling per foot, is a well-defined service that is measured in a per foot unit. An hourly rate or loaded billing rate is not considered part of a Published Fee Schedule.

Based on the above definition, does your firm use a published fee schedule?

Yes – Include a copy with your submission.

No.

c. By submittal of this form, the consultant agrees to allow internal distribution and review by the Department of the audit information submitted with this application for purposes of qualification review, negotiation of contract fees and invoice payment.

Click here to agree

d. By submittal of this form, the consultant acknowledges that it is their responsibility to notify the Department immediately should the firm become aware of errors or false statements in the submitted overhead audit(s). Making or submitting false or fraudulent statements may result in the denial, suspension, or revocation of qualification.
