Plane was traveling south, saw both floats come out of the water. The left float was higher than the right one, I thought uh oh he is in trouble as right wing dipped. Appeared to be about 4 feet off water. Went behind the TV in the bay window, did not come out the other side, saw a tail go up, but getting up and looking it was on it's back then two guys got out as I was calling 911. Heard the engine, heard it coming. Did not see if it was a right wing or right float that went in first.
